INTRODUCTION

The Cooperative Forest Fire Prevention (CFFP) Program, commonly known as the Smokey Bear Program, was created to maintain public awareness of the need to prevent human-caused wildfires. It is managed by the US Forest Service in cooperation with the Advertising Council, Inc. (Ad Council) and the National Association of State Foresters (NASF).

OBJECTIVES

The Smokey Bear Guidelines will inform and educate participants about all aspects of the CFFP Program. It will also introduce them to tools and techniques for accomplishing prevention activities, and administrative requirements of the Program.

HISTORY

The guardian of our forest has been a part of the American scene for so many years, it is hard for most of us to remember when Smokey Bear first appeared. Dressed in a ranger's hat, belted blue jeans and carrying a shovel, he has been the recognized wildfire prevention symbol since 1944. Today, Smokey Bear is a highly recognized advertising symbol and is protected by Federal law (PL 82-359, as amended by PL 93-318). He even has his own private zip code 20252.

To understand how Smokey Bear became associated with wildfire prevention, we must go back to World War II. On December 7, 1941, Japanese planes attacked Pearl Harbor. The following spring, in 1942, a Japanese submarine surfaced near the coast of Southern California and fired a salvo of shells that exploded on an oil field near Santa Barbara, very close to the Los Padres National Forest.

Americans throughout the country were shocked by the news the war had now been brought directly to the American mainland. There was also fear that enemy incendiary shells exploding in the timber stands along the Pacific Coast could easily set off numerous raging forest fires in addition to those already being caused by people. Protection of these forests from uncontrolled fire became a matter of national importance, and a new idea was born. If people could be urged to be more careful, perhaps some of the fires could be prevented.

Forest fires caused by people were nothing new. For many years, the nation had known that forest fires presented a serious threat. As early as 1902, there was a standard General Land Office forest fire warning poster that gave some guidelines for keeping fires under control. In 1939, a poster showing a forest ranger who looked like Uncle Sam pointing to a raging forest fire stated "Your Forest-Your Fault-Your Loss."

Statistics showed that nine out of ten of the fires were person-caused and, thus, preventable. With this in mind, in 1942 the Forest Service organized the Cooperative Forest Fire Prevention Program with the help of the Wartime Advertising Council. The Wartime Advertising Council was composed of people experienced in the business of advertising who donated their talent to the U.S. Government to get important messages to the people.

Posters and slogans were created through the Wartime Advertising Council, including "Forest Fires Aid the Enemy," and "Our Carelessness, Their Secret Weapon." By using catchy phrases, colorful posters and other fire prevention messages, the CFFP Program encouraged people to prevent accidental fires and help with the War.

Walt Disney's motion picture "Bambi" was produced in 1944, and Disney authorized the CFFP Program to use his creation on a poster. The Bambi poster was a success and proved that using an animal as a fire prevention symbol would work. Bambi could not be used in subsequent campaigns, because it was on loan from Walt Disney studios for only one year. The Forest Service needed to find an animal that would belong exclusively to the Cooperative Forest Fire Prevention Program. It was finally decided that the Nation's fire prevention symbol should be a bear.

On August 9, 1944, the new fire prevention symbol was agreed upon by the Forest Service and the Wartime Advertising Council. Artist Albert Staehle was asked to paint the first poster of Smokey Bear. It showed a bear pouring a bucket of water on a campfire. Smokey Bear soon became very popular and his image began appearing on fire prevention materials.

"Only YOU Can Prevent Forest Fires" was first used as a slogan in 1947. Jackson Weaver, a noted radio personality of Washington, D.C. provided the original "voice" of Smokey Bear.

One spring day in 1950 in the Capitan Mountains of New Mexico, an observer in one of the fire towers spotted smoke and called the location into the nearest Ranger Station. The first crew to arrive discovered a major fire being swept along by strong winds. Word spread rapidly and more crews were called to help. Forest rangers, Army soldiers, New Mexico State Game and Fish Department employees and civilian volunteers worked together to control the raging fire. During one of the lulls in the firefighting, there was a report of a lonely cub seen wandering near the fire line.

The little cub had been caught in the path of the fire. He had taken refuge in a tree that was now nothing but a charred, smoking snag. His climb had saved his life but left his paws and hind legs badly burned. The firefighters removed the little bear cub from the burned tree, and a rancher, who had been helping the firefighters, agreed to take the cub home. The cub needed veterinary aid and was flown to Santa Fe where the burns were treated and bandaged.

The news about the little bear spread swiftly throughout New Mexico. Soon the United Press and Associated Press picked up the story and broadcast it nationwide. Many people inquired about the little bear's progress. The State Game Warden wrote an official letter to the Chief of the Forest Service, offering to present the cub to the agency with the understanding that the small bear would be dedicated to a publicity program for fire prevention and wildlife conservation.

The go-ahead was given to send the bear cub to Washington, D.C. Once there, he found a home at the National Zoo and became the living symbol of Smokey Bear. Smokey died in 1976 and was returned to Capitan, New Mexico, where he is buried in the State Historical Park.

In November 1951, the first Smokey Bear costume was fabricated by Wass of Philadelphia for the Virginia Division of Forestry. Its success prompted the US Exhibit Service to make additional costumes. Today Smokey Bear costumes are only made by licensed contractors and are only sold to Federal and State firefighting agencies. Any other sales must be approved in writing.

By 1952, the Smokey Bear symbol was sufficiently established to attract commercial interest. Public Law 82-359 was enacted to take Smokey Bear out of public domain and place him under the control of the Secretary of Agriculture. An amendment to that Act, PL 93-318, passed in 1974, enabled commercial licensing and directed that fees and royalties be used to promote forest fire prevention. Thousands of items have been licensed under this authority over the years.

The Junior Forest Ranger program was also started in 1952. This activity encouraged children throughout the nation to write to Smokey Bear expressing their interest in fire prevention. In reply they would receive a Junior Forest Ranger Kit and other fire prevention materials. By 1965, the volume of mail for this activity was so high that Smokey Bear received his own Zip Code, 20252. The program has been recently redesigned to keep pace with state-of-the-art educational techniques.

The CFFP Program rode through the 1970s and into the 1980s with lessened momentum. Smokey Bear's early years had been easy, because it was a simpler time when his familiar message was one of the few being pushed. However, intense competition, global markets and rapid technological changes emerged, and Smokey Bear found it difficult to compete for a share of the public's attention.

In 1984, Smokey Bear's 40th Birthday was celebrated, and the first day issue of his postage stamp took place in Capitan, New Mexico. In 1987, Smokey Sports was launched as a new component of the CFFP Program. "National Smokey Bear Day" was conducted with all major league baseball teams in the United States and Canada. The decade of the 1990s opened the door for Smokey Bear's revitalization and revival by celebrating his 50th birthday with a nationwide celebration engaging in high visibility activities and events.

Smokey Bear's message of "Only You Can Prevent Forest Fires" was changed to "Only You Can Prevent Wildfires" in 2001. The term wildfire applies to any unwanted outdoor fire. The new tagline was created by The Advertising Council, along with the US Forest Service and the National Association of State Foresters (NASF), in response to the recent and rampant outbreak of wildfires, wildfires happening in grasslands and other areas than forests, to differentiate between human-caused wildfires and beneficial prescribed fires and in an effort to make Smokey Bear's message of forest conservation more contemporary.

In 2004, Smokey Bear celebrated his 60th Birthday with a special logo incorporating the line "60 Years of Vigilance." At a high-profile ceremony in Universal City, CA, Smokey Bear blew out his candles while children of wildland fire fighters sang Happy Birthday to him. At the celebration Smokey Bear was presented with a giant Hallmark© Birthday card, a birthday cake and a personalized gift-wrapped shovel.

To renew the important message of wildfire prevention to Americans, Smokey Bear enlisted the help of Bambi in 2004. Smokey Bear has an experienced partner in Bambi, who was actually the first face of the forest fire prevention message in 1942. Advertising agency Foote Cone and Belding (FCB), who has worked on the campaign since the beginning, featured Bambi on posters to remind us to be careful with our forests. TV Public Service Announcements (PSAs) featuring Bambi were created, and asked us all to "Don't Let Our Forests Become Once Upon a Time."

Smokey Bear continued to reach new generations by entering the world of social media around 2008 with his own Facebook page, Twitter, Instagram and Flickr accounts, blog, and a mobile app version of his website, smokeybear.com. In 2012, American astronaut, Joseph Acaba raised awareness of the importance of wildfire prevention by choosing Smokey Bear as his crew mascot to the International Space Station.

Has all this effort to prevent human-caused wildfires had an effect? During the 1930s, the average annual number of wildfires was 167,277. During the 1950's, the average yearly number of wildfires was down to 125,948. During the 1990's the number was 106,306. This number does include lightning started wildfires, but the trend is definitely going down.

From 2001 through 2014, almost 63,000 wildfires occurred each year from human carelessness, and those fires burned an average of 2,560,000 acres each year. In 2016, data showed just under nine out of ten wildfires were still caused by humans nationally. Considering population growth in the United States and the increase of outdoor recreation users and people living next to and within the Wildland Urban Interface (WUI), this is actually improvement. We still have a lot of work to do. Children need to hear and learn about Smokey Bear and his wildfire prevention message, and adults need to be continually reminded of the need to prevent human-caused wildfires from equipment use, dragging chains, parking on dry grass, backyard debris burning, and of course, campfires.

CFFP PROGRAM OBJECTIVE

The objective of the Cooperative Forest Fire Prevention (CFFP) Program is to create and maintain a public awareness about wildfire prevention.

Policy

The National CFFP Program provides a framework, which can be expanded upon by Regional, State, and local efforts. The State and local programs should identify specific problem areas and planned solutions. Using Smokey Bear as the vehicle for wildfire prevention messages and a variety of techniques stimulate active support and cooperation with other public agencies, educators, businesses, industry, and people interested in working to prevent unwanted human-caused wildfires.

The official Forest Service program policy and guidelines can be found in Forest Service Manual 3100, Chapter 3110, Cooperative Forest Fire Prevention (CFFP) and Forest Service Manual 5100, Forest Service Handbook 5109.18, Chapter 20, Smokey Bear.

Responsibilities

CFFP Committee

The CFFP Committee consists of three State Foresters, The Advertising Council, and the US Forest Service. The Committee meets in person annually and has two official meetings via conference call. More in-person or conference call meetings may be scheduled as needed. The National Association of State Foresters (NASF) communications director, The Ad Council, and the US Forest Service are in constant communication about the elements and the development of the program usually weekly and often daily. The Committee sets the direction of the program, reviews the elements and creative work by the advertising agency, and selects the winners of the Smokey Bear awards.

Washington Office

The CFFP Program is administered by the Director of Fire and Aviation Management (FAM) through the Branch Chief, Wildfire Prevention. It is responsive to the wildfire prevention needs of the National Forest System, State forestry organizations, other federal agencies, fire service organizations and local and private groups.

Regions and Area

Each Regional Forester and the Area Director assigns the primary responsibility for the CFFP Program to one Staff unit. A member of that Staff should be assigned as Regional/Area CFFP Coordinator. The Regional/Area Coordinators facilitate resolution of issues and concerns, implement programs of work, organize activities, and provide liaison between the Washington Office and local areas.

State Forestry Agencies

State forestry agencies have wildfire prevention specialists whose primary responsibility is to support the CFFP program in that state.

PROGRAM COMPONENTS

There are six major components to the CFFP Program:

Public Service Advertising using the media, educational and community involvement activities, corporate partnerships, special prevention promotions and collateral materials.

Social Media using engaging content on existing and emerging mobile platforms such as apps.

Campaign and Educational Activities and Materials including classroom programs, national cache materials, and Junior Forest Ranger program.

Commercial Licensing including all product types and tracking of royalties for all products produced and image protection on official products and monitoring unauthorized uses; distribution of library of images for licensed uses.

Image and Appearance including standards and quality control for trademark protection, presentation, artwork and costume use.

Awards and Recognition using five official awards (Smokey Bear Awards, Certificates and Plaques) to represent different geographic levels of outstanding impact and achievement in wildfire prevention.

Public Service Advertising

Public service advertising is an important component of the CFFP Program. It presents the wildfire prevention message to the public via the media and with campaign collateral materials. Public service advertising can also be accomplished through educational and community involvement activities, and with corporate/sports partnerships.

The Advertising Council, under the direction of the US Forest Service and the National Association of State Foresters, creates and produces national media CFFP public service advertising. Materials are designed for distribution to television, radio, print, out of home, and internet media outlets.

The Ad Council is able to work with national and local media outlets to acquire donated air time and advertising space, generating an exponential return on the CFFP Program's annual investment. Local acquisition of air time or print space should be coordinated with the respective regional and/or national coordinator, who in turn coordinates with the Ad Council.

Since the inception of the CFFP Program, the advertising agency of FCB (previously known as DraftFCB, and founded as Foote, Cone and Belding), has contributed resources and talents to create program materials. FCB is a professional advertising firm that donates its time and talent to the creative products used in the Smokey Campaign. However, talent fees and royalties may apply and restrict extended use. Their work is reviewed by the CFFP Committee and the Ad Council before the creative concepts reach production. Their creative work consists of television, print, radio, out of home and web Public Service Announcements, and other related campaign material. The quality of the products and the experience of the ad agency are critical to the success of the wildfire prevention program.

Media

Television and Radio

The Ad Council digitally distributes televisions and radio PSAs to partners nationally via email, which encourage media outlets to download the PSAs from the Ad Council proprietary platform, PSA Central. Multiple PSAs may be distributed in each category. Radio hard kit packages are also produced on a limited basis for outlets who still use that technology; these include a live announcer script and recorded copy of the radio PSAs. Both include a brief summary of the focus of the campaign and some relevant statistical information. The Ad Council PSAs are distributed to more than 40,000 media outlets across the country, including broadcast and cable networks, local TV and cable outlets, radio stations, as well as print, out of home and web hosting. Personal contact should be made with television and radio station program managers in local areas of influence to advise them of local fire issues and situations and to encourage them to use the public service advertising. All PSA materials are available for free and can be download from PSA Central at www.psacentral.org.

Newspaper and Magazines

The Ad Council digitally distributes PSAs for the print media. Dailies and weeklies, specialty, consumer, and children's magazines across the country receive a compilation email of campaign newspaper and magazine assets. This email includes campaign information and relevant statistics, show thumbnail images of current print materials available, and drive recipients to visit PSA Central to download all print materials for free. Following distribution of the newspaper and magazine ads, visits should be scheduled with local editors to encourage the use of the materials and provide advice on the local fire issues and situations.

Distributions occur throughout the year. During personal visits to local media offices, you should take the opportunity to distribute appropriate CFFP campaign materials.

Other Media

The Advertising Council also produces and distributes PSAs for transit authorities, transportation shelters, internet service providers and outdoor advertisers. Transit authorities, transportation companies and outdoor advertisers may be approached to donate vacant space. These materials must be requested and are not automatically shipped and Ad Council has to have budgeted the printing of the outdoor materials. Before negotiations for use of these materials are completed, ensure that prospective advertisers are aware that installation of these materials must be done without charge to the Forest Service or State forestry agencies

Field Production of Public Service Advertising

Local Forest Service and State Forestry units may produce PSAs for local media and advertising for community and other information awareness purposes when it is determined there is a need to supplement the national campaign to address specific local or regional problems. Local materials may be used in conjunction with the PSAs produced by the Ad Council. Campaign materials produced at the regional or local level that include Smokey Bear require coordination and review with the national CFFP Program Manager.

Locally produced advertising featuring Smokey Bear can only be used for wildfire prevention messaging and cannot detract from Smokey Bear's image. Standard wording on a credit line is: "A public service in wildfire prevention brought to you by the US Forest Service, your State Forester [or specific State Forester], and supported by [other participating organizations]. Reproduction or resale is prohibited under 16 USC 580." Local spots shall not portray Smokey Bear as a spokesman for any issue other than wildfire prevention. Do not include other advertising symbols, such as Woodsy Owl, McGruff, or Sparky without the express approval of the Director, US Forest Service, Fire and Aviation Management, Washington Office.

Social Media

To create relationships and foster dialogue with all audiences, Smokey Bear has several official social media sites, which are managed through the Ad Council. Given the rapid advancement of social media, the following sites should be verified for currency prior to distribution. As with all licensing violations, unauthorized websites or accounts should be reported to the CFFP Program coordinator.

Facebook: <http://www.facebook.com/smokeybear/>

Twitter: https://twitter.com/smokey_bear/

Campaign and Educational Activities

Campaign and wildfire prevention educational materials are developed and maintained at the National Symbols Cache (<http://www.symbols.gov/>). The materials are developed in cooperation with the Conservation Education Staff, Fire and Aviation Management, and the CFFP Committee. The current objective is to provide wildfire prevention materials that are suitable for teachers and meet standards of learning. Campaign materials obtained from the Symbols Cache must be made available for free and cannot be resold.

Campaign materials are also available through the NASF annual catalog (see below).

Note: More than 100 vendors are approved Smokey Bear licensees. Anyone may buy from these licensees and these items may be resold; however, a license from the US Forest Service may be needed to resell those items. See the Commercial Licensing section below.

Campaign Materials

Campaign materials are created to reinforce the wildfire prevention message and to maintain public awareness of the need to prevent human-caused wildfires. The items are designed to provide maximum educational value. They are offered based on usability, functionality, and practicality.

Campaign materials may feature a basic poster using Smokey Bear's image and a wildfire prevention message. Specialty posters featuring nature groups with teacher education materials are also available. Posters should be conspicuously placed in schools, libraries, Federal and State offices, fire departments, and on community bulletin boards. They should also be displayed in places where youth activity groups meet. Extensive use of these wildfire prevention materials should be encouraged at the local level. Replace posters when they become weathered or are no longer timely. Obtain permission from the owner before placing posters on private property, such as in store windows.

Distribution of campaign materials is best combined with public interaction to reinforce wildfire prevention education. Bookmarks, decals, rulers, pens and pencils, erasers, coloring sheets, and other items get the wildfire prevention message in front of elementary school children and others on a continuing basis. Place bookmarks in libraries, schools, bookmobiles, and bookstores.

Other campaign materials should be distributed as appropriate, selecting the right materials for the setting or event.

Campaign materials are designed and made available for all age groups. They are designed to bring the wildfire prevention message home on a continuing basis. Distributed materials should be appropriate to the age group involved. Materials are intended to deliver a wildfire prevention message, and are not to be used as gifts.

Field Production of Campaign Materials

Field units may design, produce, and distribute materials that meet a specific need that is not met by products available through the Cache, NASF annual campaign catalog, or commercial licensees.

To ensure that the high standards which apply to the National campaign are met in any field production, and to insure uniformity of Smokey Bear's image, it is important that Regional/Area coordinators are involved during the development. Only approved Smokey Bear art shall be used, and care must be taken that the field production does not conflict with or detract from the National effort.

There are areas that are especially subject to abuse. These are T-shirt and jacket arts for fire crews, employee associations, Ranger Districts, and special events such as health fairs, fun runs, FAX cover sheets, book/folders, conference notices, and computer generated graphics. Only approved art will be permitted. Smokey Bear's image will not be demeaned or tarnished. If, for any reason, these products are offered for sale, they are subject to regulations governing licensing.

National Association of State Foresters Store

The National Association of State Foresters (NASF) store maintains several Smokey Bear educational materials. Any Federal agency may order their products for use in wildfire prevention programs. As with CFFP items (Symbols Cache items), they may not be resold. For more information, please visit: <http://www.stateforesters.org/store>.

Educational Activities and Materials

The educational component of the CFFP Program is designed to create and maintain an awareness of the need to prevent human-caused wildfires by providing a method of reminding people of their wildfire prevention responsibilities.

Many of the CFFP campaign items can enhance teaching opportunities. Take advantage of opportunities to work with teachers and educators by supplying them with CFFP materials that will support their educational efforts.

Material that is old, outdated and/or discontinued, along with items that no longer support the CFFP emphasis, should not be distributed to the general public and should be destroyed. These materials may convey misinformation or conflict with current Program strategy.

Commercial Licensing

The Smokey Bear Act, P.L. 82-359, as amended by P.L. 93-318, and regulations of the Secretary of Agriculture (36 CFR 271) provide for the commercial use of the character and name of Smokey Bear. The objectives of commercial licensing are:

- To assist in communicating Smokey Bear's wildfire prevention message.
- To maintain the integrity of the Smokey Bear image as the National symbol of wildfire prevention.
- To insure that all products maintain standards of high quality and good taste.
- To generate funds to further nationwide wildfire prevention activities.

Policy

The Director, USFS Fire and Aviation Management (FAM), after consultation with the National Association of State Foresters and the Ad Council, is responsible for approving commercial licenses. This responsibility may be delegated. Individual product approvals are delegated to the Wildfire Prevention Branch Chief who also provides leadership and management of the contracted licensing agency. Day-to-day administration is handled by a contracted licensing agency. The licensing agency provides aggressive, professional services that meet the Program's commercial licensing and marketing objectives.

The use of Smokey Bear as a proprietary brand name is prohibited. By words or illustrations, Smokey Bear will not endorse a commercial product or service, whether explicit or implied. The Smokey Bear symbol will always be used in conjunction with an approved wildfire prevention message. All licenses shall display the official logo on products, packaging or advertising. Unauthorized commercial uses are punishable by law (16 USC 580 P-1, and 36 CFR 271).

Application/Approval Procedure

Persons interested in submitting a License Proposal should contact the USFS Wildfire Prevention Program Manager at the national office in Washington, D.C. (202-205-1488), or SBlicense@fs.fed.us. Licensing is required for any use that generates any revenue as a result of the image and likeness of Smokey Bear. Licensing may be for a term of years or for a one-time use, depending on the product and use of the Smokey Bear image.

Official Logo

An official Smokey Bear Licensee has the right to use the official Smokey Licensee logo. No one other than official licensees may use this logo. The logo should appear on all licensed products.

No product bearing Smokey Bear's image may be produced without a license or should be sold without this logo. The logo should also be used in all advertising and promotional materials for officially licensed Smokey Bear items.

Advertising and Art

All art and advertising using the image of Smokey Bear must be approved by the US Forest Service prior to its use.

The PMS color system of acceptable colors for use on Smokey Bear is:

Hat: PMS 467 (Beige)

Hatband: PMS 472 (Light Brown) Eyes: PMS 469 (Dark Brown) Muzzle: PMS 468 (Light Beige)

Face: PMS 470 (Medium Brown) Body: PMS 470 (Medium Brown) Pants: PMS 299 (Blue)

Belt: PMS 469 (Dark Brown) Buckle: PMS 131 (Gold)

"SMOKEY": PMS 472 (Light Brown)

Smokey may not be depicted as endorsing a product whether explicit or implied and should not appear with the product. Smokey Bear's message should always address wildfire prevention.

For example:

Remember, only YOU can prevent wildfires!

Break your matches! Drown your campfires!

Help Smokey prevent wildfires!

Smokey's friends don't play with matches!

Nearly 9-out-of-10 wildfires nationally are caused by people!

Careless campers cause wildfires!

Violations

Items produced for commercial sale that contain or use the Smokey Bear image, name, or message without benefit of a license violate Public Law 82-359, as amended by P.L. 93-318. Report suspected violations directly to the national CFFP Program Manager, who shall take action necessary, up to and including civil and criminal court actions, to stop the violator.

Image and Appearance

The key to Smokey Bear's worldwide recognition is credited to the positive image that has been promoted since the inception of the Program. Uniform standards have been identified for all aspects of Smokey Bear's image, from drawings to the manufacture of the costume to public appearances.

Costume

Official Smokey Bear costumes must be ordered from authorized manufacturers. The authorized Smokey Bear costume manufacturers do not require a 'license,' but do have a letter of authorization from the Forest Service. The Forest Service's Office of Inspector General has determined that the costume manufacturers can only sell costumes to federal agencies, state forestry agencies, and only those other organizations specifically authorized by the Forest Service or State Foresters. Therefore, the costume manufacturers are not required to obtain a license. These costume manufacturers are also authorized to refurbish Smokey Bear costumes. The price of the costumes should be obtained from the respective authorized manufacturers.

Approved Smokey Bear costume manufacturers are:

The Smokey Bear costume is to be used at events where a wildfire prevention message is appropriate and actively conveyed. Examples of appropriate events include parades, appearances at schools, fairs, youth-group meetings, conservation activities, television appearances, sporting events, civic and community events, trade and trademark shows, and similar functions. The uniformed escort should always be with the Smokey Bear costume to further express the wildfire prevention message.

Examples of inappropriate uses include Christmas and Halloween parties, political events, fundraisers, events with alcohol, private events, events with an appearance to charging a fee to see Smokey (see exceptions below for events with an entrance fee), summer picnics, Job Fairs, the Combined Federal Campaign, or any situation that might compromise Smokey Bear's integrity or give the appearance of using Smokey to increase event attendance, impropriety, a "celebrity appearance", or simply a photo opportunity. There needs to be an opportunity with all appearances to share a wildfire prevention message.

Corporate-Sponsored Smokey Bear Use

Requests from corporate sponsors range from having Smokey Bear appear outside a home-supply store to hosting a wildfire safety demonstration sponsored by the corporation. These types of requests need a lot of lead time to plan, require analyzing many small details, coordinating field representation, and reviewing every aspect of the event from communications to marketing to on-site activities. As a minimum, these are the topline requirements to consider prior to approval:

- All appearances of Smokey Bear must incorporate a wildfire prevention education component and follow the Smokey Bear appearance guidelines. Requestors should refer to the Smokey Bear guidelines.
- All appearances are pending the availability and approval of either the state forestry agency or the USDA Forest Service region.
- A written plan of the event including timeframe, scope and communications elements is required and must be approved by the CFFP.
- The USDA Forest Service will only then offer a single use agreement specific to this event or series of events.
- For events with an entrance fee, Smokey's image cannot be used to drive registrations/attendance. His tagline and approved prevention messaging can be utilized.
- For trade conferences and business meetings, events must incorporate a wildfire prevention education opportunity into the agenda or by way of an exhibit booth.
- There can be no appearance of commercial endorsement by Smokey Bear, the uniformed escort, or the sponsoring agency. Suitable backdrops and props for multimedia reproductions and public photo opportunities must be taken into account.
- The escort shouldn't be separated from Smokey even for photographs, interviews and appearances. Photos should have a wildfire prevention message or call to action within them.
- Any artwork that incorporates Smokey Bear must be pre-approved by the CFFP.

Acquisition and Use

Only US Forest Service and State Forestry agencies may purchase costumes without prior approval. On a case-by-case basis the Director, USFS FAM, through the Regional/Area Coordinators, approves costume ownership by other Federal agencies. Local fire departments and other fire protection organizations may be granted permission to purchase a costume after State Forester approval. Both approvals require certification that the costume will be used only for wildfire prevention purposes. Authorization shall be in the form of a Cooperative Interagency Agreement and shall cover a period of not more than five years.

Appearances

Individuals who wear and use the costume must agree to:

1. Use the costume only to further public information, education, and awareness of the prevention of human-caused wildfires.
2. Do NOT speak during costumed appearances unless equipped with the currently licensed Smokey Bear voice modulator system. The accompanying uniformed agency representative should provide the conversation and explanation.
3. Use of the Smokey Bear voice modulator is approved for use with the costume as appropriate. The voice modulator system is not to be used for conversation but to provide wildfire prevention information or respond to wildfire prevention questions keeping answers very short and to the point.
4. Exhibit appropriate animation to be effective. Express sincerity and interest while appearing in the costume by moving paws, head, and legs.
5. Appear dignified and friendly. Avoid clowning, horseplay, inappropriate dancing and gestures, etc.
6. Smokey Bear should not act aggressively and should always let the public approach him first, especially small children. Smokey should let the visitor initiate a hug, paw-shake, or other greeting. Spreading his arms or extending a paw, and waiting, is a good way to let them know it's OK to be approached.
7. Never be photographed in less than full costume. This includes being photographed without the head. Do not allow any photographs when getting into and out of the costume.
8. Never appear in less than full costume. Remain anonymous at every appearance and in any publicity connected with an appearance.
9. Use only costumes that are clean, complete, and in good condition.
10. Keep costume out-of-sight before and after use.
11. Always be accompanied by an appropriately uniformed escort in public appearances, except where not practical, such as on a parade float where space is limited.
12. Do not use alcohol or illicit drugs prior to and during the Smokey Bear appearance. This condition applies to uniformed escorts as well.

There shall be at least one uniformed escort to accompany the Bear. The escort shall guide the Bear at the elbow. The escort must be knowledgeable about Smokey Bear and wildfire prevention.

A clean, private dressing room is necessary for putting on and taking off the costume.

After donning the costume, the escort shall inspect the suit. Check for the following:

- Is the drawstring tucked in?
- Are the feet fitting correctly and trouser bottoms laying correctly over feet?
- Is the zipper out of sight? Are the buttons fastened?
- Is the belt firmly fastened to the pants? Are the pant cuffs neat?
- Is the hat crown up?
- Is the head straight on the shoulders? Is the fur brushed generously?

A round-point shovel is part of the Smokey Bear image. It can be used for appearances, when appropriate.

The costume becomes hot to the wearer after a very short period. Success has been noted with the use of compartmentalized 'ice vests' and the addition of a battery-operated fan in the hat. Several cooling options are available from the costume manufacturers. Limit appearances to 15-20-minute segments to minimize personal discomfort.

After each appearance, check the costume for needed repairs or cleaning. Note this on the outside of the storage box for immediate follow-up by the owner/manager of the costume.

Care and Maintenance

The owner/manager of the costume shall assure that:

- The Smokey costume will not be used unless it is clean, complete, and in good repair. Ideally, the costume should be dry-cleaned. Laundering is permitted according to manufacturer's specifications. If the suit is not cleaned after several hours of use it will begin to smell and cause deterioration that will shorten the life expectancy.
- The costume is inspected after each use and any required maintenance is performed.
- The costume is not placed into the costume box wet. Thoroughly air-dry the suit first.
- The manufacturer's recommendations for proper placement of the components into the storage box are followed.
- Costumes can be returned to their respective manufacturers for maintenance, refurbishment, and repair. Contact the manufacturer for price quotations.

Security and Disposal

Protect the Smokey Bear costume from theft or vandalism to eliminate unauthorized use, which may result in bad publicity and immeasurable harm to the integrity of Smokey Bear as a symbol of wildfire prevention.

- Keep the Smokey Bear costume under lock-and-key when it is not in use.
- Use a sign-in/sign-out system to control costume use.
- Mark the costume box to say, "Warning: Unauthorized use or possession of this costume is not permitted."
- Immediately report thefts of Smokey Bear costumes to the appropriate law enforcement authorities and request prompt action to assure recovery.

- The Smokey Bear costume or components may only be resold or transferred to approved users as determined by the US Forest Service Wildfire Prevention Branch Chief.

When it is determined by the owner/manager that the costume is no longer fit to wear and must be disposed of, the suit shall be rendered unrecognizable as a Smokey Bear costume by cutting, tearing, and/or burning all components. Do not throw away an intact costume or components.

Trademark Protection

The respected and recognized name of Smokey Bear and his well-known message, as well as the property rights in the trademark and the service mark are valued. There is an important need to distinguish Smokey Bear, his message, information and education materials, advertising, and commercially licensed products from those of other symbols; and to prevent their improper use. To accomplish this requires vigorous protection. Integrity is thus maintained and is reflected back to the sponsoring organizations.
